

Ecology of Marine and Estuarine Birds

FW 331 (CRN 72525),
4 CREDITS, M/W 1:00 PM - 5:50 PM

Focusing on how marine and estuarine birds are adapted for life at sea. Topics include morphology, physiology, foraging ecology, and biogeography as well as introductory oceanography. Field trips will take place during the session. For more information, visit classes.oregonstate.edu. Course subject to change.

Instructor: Rachael Orben

Summer Session 4: July 19 - August 13, 2021

For information about Disability Access Services, please visit ds.oregonstate.edu