Where does seafood come from, and how does seafood arrive on a plate? How productive are the world’s oceans, and can the oceans continue to produce enough to feed (and employ) the masses? How do different cultures, ethnicities, and regions of the world rely upon food from the sea for daily meals? Food from the Sea is an exploration of the cultural, societal, economic, practical, and environmental features of the protein that feeds billions. Learn more at classes.oregonstate.edu. This course can be used to fulfill the Global Issues Bacc Core requirement.

Instructor: Taylor Chapple

For information about Disability Access Services, please visit ds.oregonstate.edu

An online version of this course is also available via Ecampus in summer, see classes.oregonstate.edu for more information.